

ODDS AND ENDS

Just the thing for warm weather. Just the thing for 'tween seasons. Some folks are always late. For some reason or other a steady per cent. of the human family can't reach things at the time they are ripe. For such,

ODDS AND ENDS

Are extremely valuable. The odds and ends of our millinery department are what we direct your attention to now. We have a lot of trimmed and untrimmed hats and bonnets.

Odd Sizes. Odd Shapes. Odd Prices.

We have odd trimmings, too, and to all it is a rare opportunity for big bargains.

Quarrelled About Paying for Drinks.
A fight that came near resulting in a murder took place in a saloon on West Washington street, near Missouri, yesterday afternoon. The participants were John Murphy and Jack Kelly, fruit peddlers, who have frequently been in trouble. They went into a saloon, and, after drinking several times, quarrelled over who should pay the bill. Kelly struck Murphy over the head with a beer-glass, and then Murphy drew his revolver and shot at him. The ball made a slight scratch wound and then passed into the ceiling. Both men were arrested. Murphy was charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, and Kelly with assault and battery. The former was released on a $200 bond.

Preferred Death to Poverty.

James C. Davis, a millwright, who lived with his wife and son in the Frank Block, at the corner of Indiana avenue and California street, committed suicide Thursday night by taking morphine. About midnight he was found by a neighbor, and Dr. Frink was called in. He seemed to improve under the physician's care, but about 3 o'clock grew worse and soon died. Dependancy is supposed to have been the cause of the man's act. About a year ago he lost an arm in an accident, and after that time was not able to work at his trade. Recently he had great trouble in earning enough money to support his family.

GEN. HARRISON AND VICTORY

That Is What All Hoosiers Say as They Eagerly Watch Events at Chicago.

A Splendid Tribute to Their Favorite from Judge Elliott—Other Expressions from Men Who Admire the Great Indian.

EVERYBODY GOING TO CHICAGO.

What General Harrison's Home Friends Think of Him and His Candidacy.

The Chicago convention continues to be the foremost topic of conversation. Indeed, as the day of its meeting grows nearer, the interest rises, so that by next Wednesday nothing else will be talked about. The leading Republicans are fast leaving for Chicago, as fast, indeed, as their business relations will allow them, and by tonight the city by the lake will be full of enthusiastic Hoosiers. Never before has there been such an interest in this city in any national convention. Wherever a group of men is met it is almost certain that they are either discussing the situation or making arrangements to go to Chicago. It is said to say that there is no candidate before the convention whose home is so thoroughly aroused and so enthusiastically in support of Harrison's candidacy as General Harrison. Parties are being made up all the time to go and assist him on the field of action, and if the thing continues until next week there will certainly be a small-sized army corps of Hoosiers in attendance when the convention is called to order. Certainly one thing is assured, that is that the Republicans of this city are thoroughly and completely in earnest in pushing Indiana's candidate. All day yesterday there was a continued call at Wright Bros. for Harrison hats and Harrison badges, and to-day the call will be even greater. Certainly if the Hoosiers do not impress the convention it will not be because they lack either numbers or enthusiasm.

"It is impossible to overstate the interest that is taken on all sides here," remarked a gentleman yesterday, as he saw two or three prominent citizens go by with Harrison hats in their hands. "Every person who can get away is going to Chicago, or has already gone. Persons who never attended a convention before or took any interest in politics beyond casting their votes, are going to swell the great crowd. And if the delegates next week have any doubt as to who is Indiana's candidate, or Indiana's choice, it will certainly be a strange circumstance."

Have known General Harrison long and well," said Judge Byron C. Elliott, who has been a member of the Indiana Supreme Court. "In the first case I argued in court he was the opposing counsel—that was in 1858. Since then I have been opposed to him in many cases, associated with him in many, and have acted as judge in many more cases in which he was of counsel. In my opinion he is the ablest trial lawyer in this State; indeed, I have not met an able one in any other State. I have known him since he was a boy, and he has met him in many of the relations of social life. He is a kind man, a pure man, an honest man, and a great man. He is a good soldier, he is a great lawyer and a statesman. He does not stand in the shadow of a mighty name, but he is, in substance and in truth, himself a mighty man, intellectually and morally. The Republican party of Indiana is deeply his debtor. In adversity, when his cause seemed utterly hopeless, he, at a great personal sacrifice, obeyed its call, entered a contest in which we were already beaten, and made a valiant fight, well nigh retrieving our lost fortunes. In many campaigns he has taken an active part. In all, indeed, since 1858, when he was not with the army. He has done all that he could do for our cause. His voice has been heard in every quarter of the State. Our people know him and justly prize his ability and his worth. They are heartily and determinedly in his favor for President, and it is not surprising that they are, knowing, as they do, what he is and what he has done. It is not necessary to disparage Judge Graham in order to praise General Harrison. Judge Graham is a noble man, and Indiana may well be proud of two such men as Harrison and Graham. But it is perfectly clear to me that the nomination of General Harrison would not create anything like the enthusiasm in this State that the nomination of Gen. Ben Harrison would."

Gen. George F. McGinnis says that he has fixed the Republican majority in this State at 15,000 if General Harrison is the candidate for President, and he will not come down one vote. No man, in his judgment, deserved to be preferred before Indiana's candidate. "The most convincing reason for Harrison's selection, he says, is the opposition that is everywhere being developed against him by the Democrats and the National newspaper. He has done all that he can all the more," the General continued. "We Republicans know that he can carry the State. We will guarantee that."

Gen. Joseph L. Ervin, of Columbus, is one of General Harrison's most ardent supporters. He believes, as every other Republican in the State does, that the General can carry Indiana by 10,000 majority and become the next President. He is going to Chicago, and in order to remind the delegates of the old "log-cabin candidate," intends to wear upon the lapel of his coat an old Gen. Wm. Henry Harrison white star badge, which has been preserved these many years and looks as bright as though it had been issued for the renowned General's grandson, General Benjamin Harrison. The following is the legend and design on the badge:

MILL CREEK
TIPPECANOE CLUB.
(Battle Scene.)
MAJOR GENERAL
WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON.
(Portrait.)
HERO OF TIPPECANOE.
FORT MEigs
and THAMES.
(Log cabin with latch string out, flag staff and cider barrel.)
HAMILTON COUNTY.

The badge belongs to Mr. A. B. Arnold, of Columbus, and was worn by him through the log-cabin campaign.

Denney County Clerk Gus O'Brien has had occasion to travel over the State considerably recently, and as a Democrat has been able to form an unprejudiced idea of the Harrison sentiment. "It looks like all Indiana would be at Chicago hurrahing for him," said he yesterday. "I do not think I ever saw so many enthusiastic Democrats as I was at Martinsville this morning, and I think every man, woman and child in the town were talking Harrison. I was informed that thirty persons were going to Chicago from that little town."

Hon. George R. Wendling, of Shelbyville, Ill., one of the best-known platform lecturers in the country, is in the city, stopping at the Grand. He has just returned from a lecture tour through California, and came here to meet his two daughters, who have been attending school at Baltimore, and will remain until he should like to see Harrison nominated at Chicago, because I would then feel that in any event the country would have a good President."

Col. Oran Perry, of the Panhandle, says that he has no doubt of the result in Indiana this fall. He wishes that the members of the convention understood the situation here as the good Republicans do.

Manager Shaffer, of the street-car line, is a most enthusiastic Harrison man. He thinks that the Indiana Republicans are capable of making the choice of a presidential candidate and that there is no mistake or equivocation in their voice as expressed.

"Nothing has served more toward making me a strong Harrison man than the position all the Democratic papers of the State have taken," said a Republican, yesterday. "They are continually declaring that Harrison is a weak man in Indiana and should not be nominated. Now, if that were true, it would be mighty bad politics for them to be saying so at this time. The truth is, they well know that General Harrison will carry the State by not less than 10,000 majority, and they are endeavoring to prevent his nomination for that reason."

"The working Republicans of Indiana, the men who fight the party's battles and win the election, are unanimously in favor of General Harrison for the presidency against all other candidates mentioned," said an old wheel horse Republican yesterday. "There are no better Republicans anywhere than Indiana Republicans. We know what it is to fight and what it is to win. We have had experience in many a hard contest, and we know what a leader is, and around whom the party will rally. It takes no man or set of men from any other State to tell us that, or to tell us that we can't run to be successful. We know these things from experience. We have fought with General Harrison as our leader, and have never failed to be successful. His canvass of two years ago has never been surpassed in the State. If the convention wants to make sure of Indiana, there is but one course to pursue, and that is to nominate Harrison."

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE TRIP.

All Details Concerning Trains and Committees Here and At Chicago.

The Harrison Club held its final meeting before going to Chicago last night. The Criminal Court room was again crowded with the enthusiastic friends of the distinguished Indian. The executive committee reported that all the necessary arrangements had been completed for the trip, and that no change of any kind had been made in the programme as formerly announced. The members of the club will therefore meet at the Council chamber Monday morning at 8 o'clock, march to the depot and leave at 9 o'clock for Chicago on the Monon train. The committee on reception at that city will be notified of their departure and from time to time of the progress of the train carrying them, so that on their arrival all the Hoosiers in Chicago can be at the railroad station and receive them. The Indianians will then march in a great body to their hotel headquarters.

The committee on transportation submitted a report asking every one who intends to go to Chicago to be ready to go on Monday and go with it. The purpose of this is to keep the crowd together as far as possible and to prevent any misunderstandings of any kind. The committee on uniforms reported that it was impossible to get the small suit to be used as a part of the uniforms, for the reason that dealers had not a sufficient supply on hand and could not obtain them by the time set for the meeting of the convention.

The reception committee reported that the delegates from the States of Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, the two Carolinas, Kentucky and Maryland would pass through the city Sunday and Monday and that arrangements had been made to extend every courtesy to them while here.

The committee of five, consisting of John R. Clinton, A. W. Moore, R. R. Shiel, H. W. White and H. D. Porterfield, was appointed to see that a suitable banner is put up in the Union Depot and that any other decorations the committee may decide upon are arranged for on the occasion of receiving delegates going through the city.

Members of the club who have baggage can have it transferred to the depot from the Council chamber, as wagons and hacks have been provided for that purpose. All necessary arrangements will also be made for handling the baggage in Chicago.

Reports from all parts of the State continue to come in, indicating that large delegations will be in the city on Monday to join the club on its trip to Chicago. Farman's Park sent word last night that they would furnish a good representation, and asked to be counted in with the club. The responses to all are, "Come along and swell the crowd, everybody's going."

The marshal for the occasion will be Capt. B. A. Richardson, Assistant Marshal. C. S. Denney, J. L. Fletcher, Harry R. Smith, Frank P. McGinnis, H. W. Redpath, Wm. H. Russell will furnish lunch on the train and Albert Farley will look after and protect the baggage of members. John R. Leonard and Moses G. McLean will attend to the decorations of the committee members at the two hotels in Chicago. The following members of the club will act as a reception committee at headquarters in Chicago:

H. C. Allen, J. C. Allen, H. R. Allen, Jas. B. Black, John W. Caldwell, J. L. Brown, Geo. F. Branham, Henry C. Coe, A. J. Comings, J. R. Carnahan, John W. Coffin, C. S. Denney, C. A. Dray, S. A. Elbers, E. S. Elder, H. C. Ervin, W. F. Wecker, Will Clark, Ernest Elliott, Ed. Hereth, Allison Maxwell, W. O. McKinnon, Wm. H. Moore, S. D. Pray, John V. Parker, R. H. Reese, N. R. Ruckie, Chas. F. Robbins, C. G. Roney, J. E. Shover, R. M. Smock, Hon. Joseph L. Ervin, H. S. Tucker, Isaac Thalmann, Wm. H. Thompson, Chas. E. Thornton, Arthur Jordan, Wm. L. Elder, James M. Bradshaw.

These gentlemen will also act as a committee to receive and entertain delegates from the South and East, as they pass through this city on their way to Chicago, until Monday morning. H. F. Stevenson will act as chairman of the committee while acting in this city.

All members of reception committee will report to John B. Elam, at Indiana headquarters at Grand Pacific Hotel, on arrival at Chicago, when they will be assigned work at one of the headquarters.

Members will enroll their names at the office of Worth Wright, 56 East Market street, where hats can be procured for $1.75 each. Cans can be had at Bamberger's, No. 16 East Washington street.

Badges will be distributed free to members on train.

A train will be run every hour after 9 o'clock Monday morning for the accommodation of those who cannot go on the first train and for such as come to the city from towns in the State and wish to join the club. The rate is reduced, $2.25 for the round trip, for anybody who wishes to go with it. Tickets for the trip and sleeping-car berths can be secured at the Monon office, 36 South Illinois street. These tickets are valid for the trip to Chicago and the three regular trains during the convention.

All members of the club are requested to meet this evening for drill in the court-house square.

THE LITTLE FACES.

Gathered from the Drift of Talk on the Absorbing Topic.

The Harrison Club asks everybody to join in its trip to Chicago.

Wright Bros' office was kept open till a late hour last night supplying Harrison Club men with hats and badges.

A. A. Jones, of the Auditor of State's office, has been appointed one of the assistant sergeants-at-arms at the convention.

of its members belong to the Blaine Club, which is representative of the active young lawyers and business men of the city.

Stephen B. Elkins, the manager of Blaine's last campaign, passed through the city last night on his way to Chicago. He came in over the Panhandle road, and went out over the L. N. & C. General Foster, Oliver T. Morton and several other gentlemen recognized his name as soon as he alighted from his train, but when a Journal reporter asked him if his name was not Elkins he hesitated a moment and then said:

"You are a newspaper man, aren't you?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"No, my name isn't Elkins," said he smiling, and before he could be pressed further he entered the sleeper.
